MIKE ILITCH

Owner & President

Success never has come easily to Mike Ilitch, so he has no illusions that building the Red Wings into a Stanley Cup contender will be a simple task.

Since purchasing the Red Wings from Bruce A. Norris in June of 1982, Ilitch has been fervent in his desire to make the club a winner while being intimately and emotionally involved in the team's highs and lows. This zeal comes as no surprise to those who know he has a reputation for producing winners.

In business or sports, Ilitch sets high goals and vigorously pursues them. Setbacks rankle him but don't deter him. Success brings him happiness but doesn't leave him complacent if it falls short of his ultimate objective. Indeed, even if he succeeds, it doesn't quench his thirst to do better.

Ilitch's philosophy hasn't changed from the days when he left his job as a door-to-door salesman of awnings, pots and pans and china to embark on a venture that spawned the Little Caesars pizza empire.

In the 1950s, the native Detroiter had a special recipe for pizza and a vision that he could sell his product in fast-food stores. Undaunted by those who said such an idea was folly, Mike and wife Marian saved enough money, and in 1959 they opened the first Little Caesars store in Garden City.

Hard work and marketing genius have expanded the Little Caesars chain to more than 1,000 locations in 39 states and Canada. In addition, the Ilitch family owns 11 Wendy's restaurants and holds the franchise rights to 11 Chuck E. Cheese restaurants.

In January of 1983, Ilitch purchased Olympia Stadium Corp. from Bruce Norris. He renamed the company Olympia Arenas, Inc., and holds the assets and rights to Joe Louis Arena, Cobo Arena and the Glen Falls (N.Y.) Civic Center.

Ilitch was raised on Detroit's west side, where he played most sports and was All-City in baseball at Cooley High School in 1947. After graduating, Ilitch rejected an offer to sign with the Detroit Tigers and joined the Marine Corps, playing baseball during his four-year enlistment. He signed with the Tigers following his stint in the Marines and spent three seasons in Detroit's farm system before an injury ended his baseball career.

Ilitch briefly attended the University of Tampa in Florida, then returned to Michigan and began his career as a salesman and entrepreneur which eventually made him Michigan's first fast-food franchise operator.

In addition to being involved in several humanitarian projects in the Detroit area and nationwide, Ilitch has sponsored several sports teams and leagues throughout the years, including hockey, pro and amateur softball, baseball, bowling and soccer. More than 6,000 youngsters participate yearly in his sports programs.

Mike and Marian Ilitch, the Red Wings' secretary-treasurer, have seven children. Their son-in-law, Jim Lites, is the team's executive vice-president, and his wife, Denise Ilitch-Lites, is the general counsel. The other Ilitch children are Ron, Mike Jr., Lisa, Atanas, Christopher and Carole.

JIM DEVELLANO

General Manager

Many fans expected Jim Devellano to be a miracle-worker after he took over as general manager of the Red Wings on July 12, 1982. However, Jimmy D. insisted then — and now — that it takes time to produce magic in the NHL.

Now in his fourth season with the Red Wings, Devellano has laid the foundation for the future through the NHL Entry Draft, landing such talented players as Steve Yzerman along with several highly rated prospects.

Meanwhile, Devellano hasn't neglected the present. Blending youngsters with free agents and players acquired via trades, Jimmy D. assembled teams that put the Red Wings in the playoffs after a five-year absence, then reached postseason play in successive years for the first time in 20 seasons.

The Red Wings were 20th among 21 teams in the NHL's overall standings when Devellano assumed command, and have risen to 15th. Although the climb has been slow and often agonizing, Devellano has disdained the "quick fix" that might produce a faster rise in the present but cause a tumble in the future.

Devellano worked for the New York Islanders when that franchise was born, and he remembers well how the Isles were built through patience and the draft, refusing to mortgage the future when the going got tough. The results are engraved on the Stanley Cup — four consecutive championships between 1980 and '83.

Devellano, who never played professional hockey, began his NHL career in 1967 as a scout with the St. Louis Blues, who were founded that year when the league expanded from six to 12 teams. With Devellano's assistance, the Blues were the best expansion franchise and reached the Stanley Cup finals in each of their first three seasons.

In 1972, the Islanders came on the NHL scene, and General Manager Bill Torrey hired Devellano as a scout. It was with the Islanders that Jimmy D. enhanced his reputation as one of the game's premier judges of talent.

In helping Torrey mold the Islanders into a dynasty, Devellano scouted and recommended such draft picks as Bryan Trottier, Mike Bossy and John Tonelli, to name only a few. It's significant that those players — and many others hyped by Jimmy D. who later became superb performers — weren't rated that highly by other scouts. In addition, a look at the Islanders reveals that the team's later-round draft choices were indispensable contributors in the championship years.

In the 1979-80 season, Jimmy D. was sent to Indianapolis to be general manager of the Islanders' farm club in the Central Hockey League. After his first season, he was named Minor League Executive of the Year by The Hockey News. Jimmy D. returned to New York in 1981 and served a year as the Islanders' assistant general manager before becoming G.M. of the Red Wings when Mike Ilitch bought the club.

Devellano, 42, a native of Toronto, is single and resides in downtown Detroit.

NICK POLANO

Asst. General Manager & Director of Player Development

After three years as head coach of the Red Wings — during which he led the club to playoff berths in successive seasons for the first time in 20 years — Nick Polano has assumed full-time duties as assistant general manager and director of player development.

In the past, Polano had limited responsibilities as assistant GM following his appointment as head coach Aug. 4, 1982. The new position increases his input in the day-to-day operation of the Red Wings and the development of players drafted by the organization.

Two of Polano's primary jobs are scouting the National Hockey League and minor leagues, in addition to watching and evaluating the more than 30 draft choices the Red Wings have playing in the junior ranks, colleges, high schools and Europe. He also consults with the coaches of those players.

Polano, 44, came to Detroit after spending the 1981-82 season as an assistant to Scotty Bowman with the Buffalo Sabres. He began his coaching career in 1975-76 at Erie in the old North American Hockey League, then left that post after the 76-77 season for a job at Dayton in the International League (the club moved to Grand Rapids midway through the 77-78 season).

In 1978-79, Polano returned to Erie — which had shifted to the Eastern Hockey League — and took the dual role of general manager/coach for three seasons, winning the regular-season and playoff championships each year. Polano twice was named EHL Coach of the Year in that span, and The Hockey News honored him as Minor League Executive of the Year in 1981.

Polano never played in the NHL but did perform for 15 seasons as a defenseman with Baltimore, Hershey and Providence in the American Hockey League and the Philadelphia Blazers in the World Hockey Association. In his junior hockey days, he played for the Hamilton, Ontario, club that had a working agreement with the Red Wings.

A native of Copper Cliff, Ontario, Nick resides in suburban Detroit with his wife, Elva, and their two children, daughter Jodi and son Michael.

Chrysler Technology makes Made in America mean something again.

From the time it re-introduced the convertible, the LeBaron Series has caught the competition sleeping. This year is no exception.

For 1986, the LeBarons are re-designed with gracefully sculpted new lines. They give you more standard features than Olds Cutlass Ciera. And their power has been enhanced by two engine options: a fuel injected water cooled turbo and Chrysler's new 2.5-liter engine. You'll appreciate their extra surge every time you accelerate, pass with confidence and cruise effortlessly.

The LeBaron is America's only convertible built from start to finish entirely in the manufacturer's own factory. The integral strength of the car, the luxury of its interior, the secure handling of its front-wheel drive and its quality from top to bottom are all the creation and the pride of Chrysler technology. And it's backed by Chrysler's 5-year or 50,000-mile Protection Plan.* It's understandable why LeBaron is America's best selling convertible.†

Chrysler's commitment to make Made in America mean something again is beautifully evident in the 1986 LeBarons. To buy or lease a LeBaron, visit your Chrysler-Plymouth dealer.

HARRY NEALE

Head Coach

When Harry Neale signed a two-year contract as head coach of the Red Wings June 24, 1985, he brought a wealth of experience to the job which is perfectly suited to the team's building process.

Neale, 48, has coached at all levels of the game — junior and college hockey, the World Hockey Association and National Hockey League. He also has the ideal personality to cope with pressures of the NHL and is blessed with a quick wit that has made him the league leader in one-liners.

Neale is the 18th man to coach the Detroit franchise, now in its 60th year. He came to the Red Wings after spending the past seven seasons with the Vancouver Canucks in roles as vice-president, general manager and coach. Neale was born March 9, 1937, in Sarnia, Ontario, 60 miles north of Detroit. Although he never played hockey professionally, he was an All-Star Junior "A" defenseman with the Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association. He moved on to the University of Toronto, where he earned an Arts degree, and McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, where he received a degree in physical education. In 1960-61, he sparkled for the Senior team from Galt, Ontario, that won the Allan Cup, then went overseas to play for the Canadian National Team.

After a stint as a high school history and physical education teacher in Hamilton, Neale began his coaching career in 1967-68 at Ohio State University, where he guided the Buckeyes to a 49-48-3 record in four seasons. He coached the Hamilton Red Wings of the Junior "A" OHA in 1971-72, then joined the Minnesota Fighting Saints in 72-73 as an assistant coach under Glen Sonmor for the WHA club.

Neale became head coach of the Fighting Saints late in the 72-73 season. When that franchise folded in March of '76, he went to the New England (now Hartford) Whalers — then a WHA member — where he finished the season and then coached for two full years. In six WHA seasons with Minnesota and New England, Neale's teams never missed the playoffs as he posted a regular-season record of 208-175-20 and a 32-32 playoff mark.

On May 26, 1978, Neale was named head coach of the Vancouver Canucks, and on June 1, 1982, he became the team's vice-president and general manager. He played a major role in helping the Canucks reach the Stanley Cup finals in 1982. Late that season, he turned over the coaching reins to his assistant, Roger Neilson, who led a miraculous march to the finals, where the Canucks bowed in four straight games to the New York Islanders.

In seven seasons with the Vancouver organization, Neale was head coach for three complete seasons, the bulk of two others and nearly half of another. Vancouver gained a playoff berth in five of the six seasons in which he coached.

Harry and wife Peggy have three children, David, Lauren and Sara, and reside in suburban Detroit.

NEIL SMITH

Director of Scouting & Player Procurement, Adirondack General Manager

Neil Smith, respected throughout the National Hockey League as a keen observer of the game with a sharp eye for talent, has moved up as the Red Wings' director of scouting and player procurement, and as general manager of Detroit's Adirondack farm club in the American Hockey League.

Smith has been with the Red Wings since 1982, serving previously as director of pro scouting and the farm system, along with being assistant GM at Adirondack. In assuming his new duties June 5, 1985, Smith succeeded Red Wings General Manager Jim Devellano in each role.

Smith, 31, is the youngest chief scout in the NHL. He directs the organization's scouting staff — in addition to searching for talent himself — and is responsible for stocking Detroit's farm clubs in Adirondack and Kalamazoo. Beginning in 1986, he will lead the Red Wings' efforts in the NHL Entry Draft of amateur players.

Smith, born in Toronto Jan. 9, 1954, was a defenseman for Brockville in the Central Ontario Junior League and was the New York Islanders' 12th choice (204th overall) among 19 selections in the 1974 Entry Draft. However, he accepted a scholarship to attend Western Michigan University and sparkled there for four years, gaining All-America honors in his freshman season and spending the remaining three years as team captain.

After graduating from Western Michigan, Smith spent two years in the Islanders' farm system, performing in the International Hockey League for Kalamazoo in 1978-79 and Dayton in 79-80.

After retiring as a player, Smith joined the Islanders as a part-time advance scout in the 1980-81 season and played a role in the team winning the second of four consecutive Stanley Cup titles. The following year, he was hired as a full-time scout by the Islanders.

In July of 1982, Smith came to the Detroit organization when Devellano left his post as assistant general manager of the Islanders to become GM of the Red Wings.

Smith is single and resides in the Detroit area.

DAN BELISLE

Assistant Coach

Dan Belisle is in his fourth season as assistant coach of the Red Wings, imparting the wisdom accumulated during many years in the game.

Belisle's first National Hockey League coaching position was the top job at Washington in 1978-79, where he led the Capitals to a 15-point improvement over the previous year, then was deposed when the club slumped early in the 79-80 season.

Belisle moved on to Texas and was an immediate success in 1980-81 as general manager/coach of Dallas in the old Central Hockey League. He guided Dallas to the regular-season championship that season and was named CHL Coach of the Year — the fourth time he received top coaching honors in the minor leagues. Belisle coached Kelly Kisio — now with the Red Wings — when the two were at Dallas and remained with that team until joining the Red Wings' staff under Nick Polano in 1982-83.

Belisle's coaching debut was in 1972-73 at Des Moines of the International Hockey League. He coached that club to a championship in his second season at the controls. In 1975-76, he took charge at Syracuse in the old North American Hockey League and captured the regular-season and playoff titles in his second year. He then spent the 77-78 season as coach at Philadelphia in the American Hockey League before moving up to Washington in the NHL.

Belisle spent nearly all of his 15-year playing career in the minors, excluding a four-game stint with the New York Rangers midway through the 1960-61 season. A right wing, he retired as a player after the 1970-71 campaign.

Belisle, 48, is a native of South Porcupine, Ontario. He and wife Carol reside in suburban Detroit and have three children, Debra, Dan Jr. and Dee. Dan Jr. is the Red Wings' marketing coordinator.

COLIN CAMPBELL

Assistant Coach

In appointing Colin Campbell as assistant coach last July, Red Wings Head Coach Harry Neale pointed out, "I've found that to have an effective coaching staff, it helps to have a person who recently played the game."

Campbell certainly qualifies, having just retired as a Detroit player after last season to cap a 12-year professional career. The 32-year-old former defenseman always has been respected for his knowledge of hockey, and his sense of humor should continue to serve him and others well amid the pressures of the game. Campbell also is very familiar with Neale, who coached him for two seasons with the Vancouver Canucks in the early 1980s.

A native of London, Ontario, Campbell played in the junior ranks for Peterborough of the Ontario Hockey Association. He was the Pittsburgh Penguins' third choice (27th overall) in the 1973 NHL Entry Draft but opted to sign with the Vancouver Blazers of the World Hockey Association.

After one season in the WHA, Campbell joined the Penguins. In addition to four seasons in Pittsburgh, two with the Vancouver Canucks and three in Detroit, Campbell also played one season each with the Colorado Rockies and Edmonton Oilers. With the Canucks in 1982, he played for the team that reached the Stanley Cup finals before bowing in four straight games to the New York Islanders.

Campbell, noted as a defensive defenseman during his career, played in 636 regular-season NHL games, getting 25 goals and 103 assists while drawing 1,292 penalty minutes. He added four goals, 10 assists and 181 penalty minutes in 45 playoff outings.

Nicknamed "Soupy", he and wife Heather reside in suburban Detroit with their two daughters, Lauren and Courtney, and a son, Gregory.

DAVE DRYDEN

Assistant Coach/Goaltenders

The name "Dryden" is synonymous with goaltending, and Dave Dryden is bringing his expertise to the Red Wings in his third season as an assistant coach working with the team's netminders.

Dave, a former NHL goalie, has written a book on the subject, and he's the elder brother of NHL Hall of Famer Ken Dryden, who starred for the Montreal Canadiens.

Dryden, 44, teaches at Lyndewood High School in the Toronto suburb of Mississauga and works for the Red Wings on a part-time basis, keeping an eye on goaltenders in Detroit and at the team's Adirondack farm club in the American Hockey League. He also works with goalies in junior hockey who are Detroit property and scouts netminders who are potential acquisitions in the NHL Entry Draft or by trade. In addition to working in person with the goalies, he also analyzes their performances on videotape.

A native of Hamilton, Ontario, Dryden spent parts of nine seasons in the NHL with the New York Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks, Buffalo Sabres and Edmonton Oilers, posting a superb 3.19 goals-against average and nine shutouts in 203 games. Dave also played in the World Hockey Association for Chicago and Edmonton, moving back to the NHL for his final season when the Oilers joined the league in 1979-80. In 242 WHA performances, he registered a 3.51 average and eight shutouts.

Dryden's previous coaching experience was in the junior ranks with the Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey League, where he was head coach in 1981-82.

Dave and wife Sandra have two youngsters, Greg and Debbie, and live in Oakville, Ontario, near Toronto.

John Labatt took over a brewery in 1827 and began to make Canadian beer his way. It was the beginning of Canada's Beer. Discover Canada's best kept secret.

Labatt's . . . born of a dual heritage combining the hearty characteristics of European brewing tradition and the mellow taste of finer American beers.

The perfect beer.

A perfectly balanced taste . . . less heavy than the Europeans, with more character than the Americans. And more purely drinkable than either. It is a taste that has won over 100 gold medals in international competitions. Including perhaps the toughest of them all . . . the International Brewers' Exposition in London.

Winner of the ultimate taste test.

Eighty of the world's finest beers . . . German, Dutch, Canadian, American, English.

Five days of eliminations. A completely blind taste test. No favors asked . . . and none given.

From the world's finest beers, the judges chose Labatt's finest of them all.

Obviously they share the standards of our brewmaster, Roger Bergeron, who said: "Someone asked me once if Labatt's really is the 'perfect beer' and, of course, I just smiled modestly. But I'll tell you . . . the Labatt's people drink is pretty damn close, or it doesn't leave the brewery."

Enough said.

Discover it for yourself.

Trainer Bert Godin, in his third season, assists in physical fitness procedures and also supervises the Red Wings' equipment home and away. Godin is a native of Lewiston, Maine, and graduated from New England College in Henniker, N.H. Before coming to Detroit, he spent a season with the Maine Mariners of the American Hockey League, which followed a one-year stint with the Flint Generals of the International Hockey League and two years with the Hampton Gulls of the Eastern Hockey League. Bert and wife Brenda have a son, Justin.

Assistant Trainer Steve Latin performs numerous tasks in the dressing room and also assists the visiting teams in their needs. Steve, in his fourth season, is a Detroit native and single.

The Red Wings' medical staff is headed by Drs. Robert Teitge, M.D.; John Finley, D.O., and C.J. Regula, D.M.D. Dr. Teitge also is director of the Michigan Sports Medicine and Orthopedic Surgery Center in suburban Warren. Dr. Finley has his own general surgery practice, based in Highland Park, and Dr. Regula is executive director of Midwestern Dental Centers, with locations in Dearborn, Warren and Sterling Heights.

RED WINGS ON THE AIR

After years of simulcasting games on radio and television, the Red Wings have separate teams handling the broadcasting chores this season.

Bruce Martyn and Sid Abel are in their 10th season together describing all Red Wings games on flagship station WJR-AM (760) along with an outstate radio network. Doing a minimum of 15 games on WXON-TV (Channel 20) are newcomer Dave Strader — also the team's director of broadcasting — and former Red Wings star Mickey Redmond.

Martyn, the play-by-play announcer, is in his 22nd year in the Red Wings' broadcast booth. Bruce began his radio career at WSOO in his native Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., then moved to WCAR-Radio in the 1950s. He joined WKBD-TV when it opened in 1962 and also did some freelance announcing before taking the Red Wings' radio job in 1964-65.

Abel, an NHL Hall of Famer, has been the color commentator since 1976-77. Sid joined the Red Wings in 1938-39 and played nine full seasons and portions of three others, departing in 51-52 to become player-coach in Chicago. He retired after the 52-53 season with 189 goals and 283 assists in 612 regular-season games. With Detroit, Abel played on three Stanley Cup winners, won the Hart Trophy (league MVP) in 1948-49, was named twice to the First All-Star Team at center and twice to the Second Team (once each at center and left wing). Beginning midway in the 57-58 season, Abel coached Detroit for 10 full seasons and parts of two others, compiling a record of 340-338-132 and leading the team to the Stanley Cup finals four times. In 963 games as as NHL coach (fifth on the all-time list), including stints with St. Louis and Kansas City, Abel's teams were 382-426-155.

Strader joins the Red Wings as TV play-by-play man after six seasons with the Adirondack Red Wings, Detroit's American Hockey League affiliate, during which he served as the team's director of public relations and broadcaster. Strader twice was honored by the New York State Broadcasters' Association for excellence in play-by-play, and received the AHL's Ken McKenzie Award in 1984 as the league's top promoter. He's a native of Glens Falls, N.Y., and a graduate of the University of Massachusetts.

Redmond, twice a 50-plus goal scorer in five full seasons with the Red Wings, joins the TV crew as color commentator after extensive experience with Hockey Night in Canada and as a feature reporter for Detroit telecasts. Mickey made the First All-Star Team in 1973 and the Second Team in '74. In 538 regular-season games over nine NHL seasons, including action with Montreal, he had 233 goals and 195 assists.

In his sixth season as producer of televised games is Toby Cunningham, who also coordinates feature stories.

Following is the team's radio network:

WJR-AM (760), Detroit
WLXX-FM (99), Sault Ste. Marie
WCUZ-AM (1230), Grand Rapids
WBCM-AM (1440), Bay City
WFYC-AM (1280 AM), & (105 FM), Alma

BECAME RED WING

Fourth choice (66th overall) in 1979 Entry Draft.

1984-85 SEASON

Voted First-Team All-Star left wing on NHL's official team, selected by members of Professional Hockey Writers' Association. . . . First Detroit left wing on No. 1 All-Star team since Ted Lindsay in 1957 and only Red Wing to make First Team since Mickey Redmond in 1973 . . . Was Second-Team All-Star on club selected by NHL players for The Sporting News, finishing runner-up by 11 votes behind Quebec left wing Michel Goulet. . . . Scored team-record 55 goals, topping previous mark by Mickey Redmond (52 in 1972-73). . . . Tied for fourth among NHL goal-scorers with Quebec's Goulet. . . . Led Detroit in goals for fifth time in as many full seasons with club. . . . Topped Red Wings with career-high 105 points, most by any NHL left wing and tying for seventh on league ledger with Chicago's Denis Savard. . . . It was second-best point production in Detroit history behind Marcel Dionne (121 in 74-75). . . . Paced team and was among league leaders with 15 power-play goals. . . . Club leader with six game-winning goals. . . . His 50 assists were personal high and ranked third on club. . . . Was near-unanimous choice in voting by writers as starting left wing for Campbell Conference in NHL All-Star Game Feb. 12 at Calgary. . . It was second straight year he was selected as starter and his fourth All-Star Game appearance (in 1981 and '82 he was picked as alternate by coaches). . . . Registered at least one point in 60 of 79 games, missing final contest April 7 at St. Louis with flu. . . . Had career-high 14-game scoring streak (13 goals, 11 assists) Dec. 14-Jan. 13. . . Put together more productive 12-game string (13-12) Feb. 24-March 22. . . . Had pair of hat tricks — giving him six in career — Dec. 4 vs. Toronto and March 13 at Edmonton. . . . His third tally in that game against Oilers was 50th of season. . . . He broke club record with No. 53 March 26 vs. Minnesota. . . . Excluding hat tricks, he had nine two-goal games. . . . Recorded four-point games on four occasions. . . . Registered 400th NHL point March 1 vs. Minnesota. . . . Netted 200th NHL goal March 9 vs. New Jersey. . . . Finished season at plus-1 . . . Led team with 303 shots on goal.

CAREER

Ranks sixth on Red Wings' all-time list with 209 goals, is 10th with 424 points and 15th with 215 assists . . . Has topped 40-goal plateau in each of last three seasons . . . Missed chance at 50 goals in 1983-84 when he broke left wrist Feb. 26 at Chicago and was sidelined for final 16

regular-season games, finishing with 42 goals . . . Tied for second in NHL with 19 power-play goals in 83-84 . . . Led Red Wings in scoring (85 points) and plus-minus (plus-11) in 82-83. . . . Played for Team Canada in 1981 World Championships. . . . In junior ranks, shared Western Hockey League Rookie of the Year honor in 1977-78 and helped New Westminster win pair of Memorial Cup titles.

Your car is only as good as its last repair.

You rely on your car. So when a car repair isn't done right, you lose more than money.

Next time, see a Shell Auto Care Dealer, where "it's fixed or it's free." He wants to fix your car right the first time, because if it's not fixed right, he has only two options: fix it again at his expense or give back your money. That's a tough warranty.

Shell Auto Care Dealers specialize in frequently needed car repairs: tune-ups, wheel alignments, brakes and air conditioning. Each Shell Auto Care Dealer offers:

1. A written estimate of the cost of the job to be done. Work won't start until you approve it.
2. Certified mechanics and the latest equipment necessary to do these repairs and do them right.
3. Old parts returned–simple proof that they were replaced.
4. The dealer's personal written warranty that guarantees the work for 90 days or 4000 miles.

At Shell Auto Care, it's fixed or it's free.

RED WINGS' HISTORY

The Detroit hockey franchise has been a major source in the development of the game's popularity in the United States, along with being a vibrant member of the National Hockey League.

The advent of youth hockey programs in the Detroit area can be traced to the team's glory years, when youngsters dreamed of emulating the great players who sparkled at Olympia Stadium. That interest never has waned. Hockey observers hail the present-day enthusiasm for the team, which in 1984-85 set a club attendance record of 696,577 — a 40-game average of 17,414 — second in the NHL behind the Edmonton Oilers.

The story of professional hockey in Detroit began Sept. 25, 1926, when a group of local businessmen purchased an NHL franchise and imported the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League to represent the Motor City.

The team was called the Detroit Cougars, but it didn't have a home in the city that first season. Construction of Olympia Stadium had just begun, so the club played its home games across the Detroit River in Canada at Windsor's Border Cities Arena.

The Cougars played their first NHL game Nov. 18, 1926, and dropped a 2-0 decision to the Boston Bruins. In a 44-game schedule that season, the Cougars finished in last place with a 12-28-4 record.

The following season was marked by the arrival of a man who eventually would indelibly write the name of Detroit in hockey's history books. Jack Adams replaced Art Duncan as general manager-coach and began a 35-year association with the club which also made him a legend.

In addition to Adams, the club also had a new home. Olympia was completed and the Cougars played their first game in the stadium Nov. 22, 1927 against the defending champion Ottawa Senators. Detroit's Johnny Sheppard scored the first goal in the new building, but the Cougars were blanked the rest of the way in a 2-1 defeat.

Detroit went on to a 19-19-6 record that season, finishing fourth and out of the playoffs. In 1928-29, the team made the first of the franchise's 36 playoff appearances in 59 seasons, but then ran fourth and missed postseason play the next two years.

In 1930, the team had changed its name to Falcons at the urging of Detroit media people who thought a new monicker might bring some luck. Alas, it didn't bring much, although the club landed a playoff spot in the 1931-32 season despite a sub-.500 record.

In the summer of 1932, American industrialist James Norris purchased the franchise and renamed it Red Wings. He imported the new name from Canada, where he had played hockey for a team called the Winged Wheelers in the Montreal Athletic Association. The team's insignia — a winged wheel — struck Norris as a natural for a club representing the Motor City. The emblem became an automobile tire with a flying wing attached and, except for some minor artistic variations, has remained the same.

The Red Wings became an NHL powerhouse, winning a league championship in the second year under Norris — the first of 13 regular-season titles. In 1935-36, the Red Wings captured both the league championship and the Stanley Cup — the prized trophy the team has won seven times.

One of the most amazing strings in NHL history was put together by the Red Wings between the 1948-49 and 54-55 seasons, when the club won a record seven consecutive league titles and brought home the Stanley Cup four times in that span.

Over the years, some of the greats in hockey have been Red Wings. Thirty-eight people associated with the club are in the NHL Hall of Fame — names such as Gordie Howe, Jack Adams, Sid Abel, Ted Lindsay, Alex Delvecchio and Terry Sawchuk. Red Wings have been voted to NHL All-Star teams more than 80 times, while Detroit players have earned nearly 40 individual league trophies.

Ownership of the Red Wings remained in the Norris family for 50 years. The elder Norris served as club president until his death in 1952 and was succeeded by his daughter, Marguerite. In 1955, Norris' son, Bruce, took over as president and held that post until selling the team to Mike Ilitch on June 22, 1982.

Although the Red Wings had slipped on the NHL ladder before Ilitch bought the club, his aggressive and enthusiastic ownership eventually will put the team back among the NHL's elite.

SCHEDULE

Each of the 21 teams will play an 80-game schedule, with those teams in the Smythe, Norris and Adams divisions having eight games (four home, four away) against each of their divisional opponents, plus three games against each of the remaining 16 teams in the league. In the case of the three games against the remaining clubs, teams will play two home, one away or vice-versa, alternating the extra home game each year.

The six clubs in the Patrick Division will play each other seven times, with three games against each of the remaining 15 teams. The home-ice differential will be alternated each season.

TIE-BREAKER FORMULA

To break a points tie in the final regular-season standings, the following methods are used: 1) — Most wins; 2) — Best record between or among the tied teams. In the six-team Patrick Division, in which each team plays the other five teams seven times each, the odd game (fourth home game of a team) will not count; 3) — Most goals by a team in games only between or among tied teams. In Patrick Division, the fourth home game of a team will not count.

STANLEY CUP PLAYOFFS

Semifinals (All best-of-five series): First four teams in each division. Game numbers 1, 2 and 5 in home arenas of higher-placed teams. Game numbers 3 and 4 in home arenas of lower-placed teams. Games 4 and 5 to be played only if necessary.

Division Finals (All best-of-seven series): Eight winners of Division Semifinals. Game numbers 1, 2, 5 and 7 in home arena of higher-placed team. Game numbers 3, 4 and 6 in home arena of lower-placed team. Games 5, 6 and 7 to be played only if necessary.

Conference Championships (Each best-of-seven series): Home-ice advantage for the respective Conference Championship series will go to the teams that compiled the better records during the regular season. Game-site format is same as divisional finals.

Stanley Cup Championship (Winners of Conference Championships meet in best-of-seven series): Home-ice advantage will go to the team that compiled the better record in regular-season play. Game-site format is same as divisional finals and conference championships.
